

Service Schedule for BT Business Lite Web Hosting and Business Email Lite powered by Microsoft® Office 365

1. SERVICE DESCRIPTION

- 1.1 The Service enables the Customer to:
- set up a web site(s);
  - create a sub-domain name associated with the web site;
  - create email addresses.
- 1.2 The email element of the Service is a hosted messaging service that delivers the capabilities of Microsoft Exchange Server as a cloud based service. All third party trade mark rights are acknowledged.
- 1.3 Business Email Lite powered by Microsoft® Office 365 is compatible with domains formatted in btconnect.com and custom domains e.g. yourcompany.com. Business Email Lite Plus powered by Microsoft® Office 365 is compatible with domains formatted in customer domain only.
- 1.4 Email Service is subject to the following limitations:
- each User receives 500 MB Mailbox storage. The maximum Mailbox size for a User is 500 MB. The User will receive email notification when their primary Mailbox is approaching its maximum size limits;
  - if the maximum limit is exceeded a User will be unable to send or receive new messages until the Mailbox is below the size limit;
  - the message size limit is 25 MB, including attachments. Messages larger than this limit will not be delivered, and the sender will receive a Non-Delivery Report. The message size limit is a global setting that applies to all messages (that is, inbound, outbound, and internal);
  - each Mailbox can send messages to a maximum of 1500 recipients per day. An email message can be addressed to a maximum of 500 recipients;
  - Users can send only 30 messages per minute.

Breach of any limit may result in the rejection, deletion or loss of data. Other limits apply to the Service and are set out at: <http://business.bt.com/broadband-and-internet/internet-communication/business-email/> (or any other url that BT advises to the Customer).

Access

- 1.5 In order to access the Service the Customer must ensure that its system meets the minimum requirements set out at <http://business.bt.com/broadband-and-internet/internet-communication/business-email/> (or any other url that BT advises to the Customer).
- 1.6 Mailbox access is through the POP3 protocol or Microsoft Office Outlook Web App only.
- 1.7 This Contract does not include the provision of any service and / or device necessary to connect to the Service.

Service Start Date

- 1.8 The Service Start Date is the date BT advises the Customer the Service will be activated.

Minimum Period

- 1.9 There is no Minimum Period.

2. SERVICE LEVELS

BT Helpdesk

- 2.1 The BT Helpdesk provides first line support to the Customer and is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week for fault reporting and enquiries.
- 2.2 The contact details for the BT Helpdesk will be set out on bt.com at <http://www.bt.com/business/contactus> (or any other url that BT advises to the Customer).

Online Support

- 2.3 In addition to the BT Helpdesk detailed in paragraph 2.1 above, BT will provide the following online services to the Users:
- 'Help & Support' which will provide Users with online help on configuration, usage and troubleshooting problems;

(b) 'Your Account' will allow the Admin User to manage Mailboxes and passwords and other Users to manage passwords.

2.4 BT is not responsible for providing any other support, whether technical or otherwise, in respect of the Service.

Service Availability

2.5 The Service is scheduled to be available 24 hours per day, 7 days a week. The Customer acknowledges that such availability is not guaranteed.

Fault Repair Service

2.6 BT cannot guarantee that the Service will never be faulty, however, BT will correct all reported faults as soon as BT reasonably can.

Email Service Security and Virus checks

2.7 Access is through Secure Socket Layer or Transport Layer Security encryption when connecting to the Service.

2.8 The Service uses Microsoft Forefront On-line Protection for Exchange, Microsoft Forefront Protection, proprietary anti-spam technology and complementary antivirus engines to help detect malicious code, malicious software and spam.

2.9 The Customer acknowledges BT cannot guarantee that the security and virus checks specified in paragraphs 2.7 and 2.8 above will detect or protect against all malicious code, malicious software or spam.

2.10 BT recommends the Customer takes appropriate measures, including the installation of suitable antivirus software, to protect and secure its PCs and computer network against harmful and malicious viruses.

3. CHARGES

3.1 Subject to paragraph 3.2, the Service is provided free of charge but the Customer may be required to pay charges to the Customer's Internet service provider to connect to bt.com. BT will provide the Service in consideration of the Customer's performance of its obligations contained in the Contract.

3.2 Calls to the BT Helpdesk will be charged at national rates as set out in the BT Price List.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE CUSTOMER AND BT

4.1 The Customer is responsible for nominating an Admin User who will:

- (a) be the first point of contact for all Users of the Service;
- (b) deal with day-to-day management of User mail accounts and simple queries such as password resets;
- (c) be solely responsible for use of Admin activities within Self Care, which will allow activities such as password resets and account creation and deletion, which are only available to the Admin User.

The Customer must notify the BT Helpdesk by email of any change to the Admin User.

4.2 The Customer is responsible for all configuration and management of its access to the Service including configuration of its network, firewall, Domain Name System, routers and PCs.

4.3 The Customer must only access the Service as permitted by BT and will not attempt at any time to circumvent system security or any technical limitations relating to use of the Software or to access the source software or compiled code.

4.4 The Customer must not:

- (a) reverse engineer or disassemble any Software;
- (b) create derivative works of the Software; or
- (c) unless otherwise expressly permitted under this Contract:
  - (i) rent, lease, lend, resell, or host to or for third parties any Software;
  - (ii) separate and use the components of the Software on two or more computers, upgrade or downgrade

- components at different times, or transfer components separately.
- 4.5 The Service is protected by copyright, trademark and other intellectual property rights, as applicable. The Customer must not and must not permit anyone else to copy, store, adapt, modify, transmit or distribute the Service except to Users.
- 4.6 The Customer will be responsible for the creation, maintenance and design of all Customer Information.
- 4.7 The Customer must ensure that it complies with all consumer and other legislation, instructions or guidelines issued by regulatory authorities, relevant licences and any other codes of practice which apply to the Customer and which relate to the provision of Customer Information.
- 4.8 The Customer is responsible for the acts and omissions of all Users in connection with the Service and is liable for any failure by any User to perform or observe the terms and conditions of this Contract, including any instructions issued under clause 3.4 of the Conditions.
- 4.9 Except as permitted by applicable law or as expressly permitted under the Contract, the Customer must not, without BT's prior written consent, copy manuals or documentation or permit anyone else to do so.
- 4.10 The Customer is responsible for User Security Details, if any, and all activity with the Customer's email accounts including that of Users and dealings with third parties that take place through the Customer's account or associated accounts. The Customer must keep the Customer's accounts and User Security Details confidential. The Customer must inform BT immediately about any possible misuse of the Customer's accounts or any security breach relating to the Service.
- 4.11 BT and its licensors are not responsible for any third party content the Customer accesses with the Service. The Customer is responsible for the Customer's dealings with any third party (including advertisers) relating to the Service (including the delivery of and payment for goods and services).
- 4.12 The Customer warrants that the Customer is the owner of, or is authorised by the owner of, any trade mark or trade name that the Customer associates with the email, other than BT trademarks.
- 4.13 BT may impose service limitations and restrictions including limits (which BT may vary from time to time) on the physical amount of web-space available for use. Breach of any limit or restriction may result in the rejection, deletion or loss of data.
- ### Email Service
- 4.14 The Customer must acquire and assign User Subscription Licences ("User SLs") to Users who access the Service. The Customer may permanently reassign a User SL from one User to another or temporarily reassign a User SL to a temporary worker while the User is absent.
- 4.15 BT or its licensor may take action to manage network performance to avoid disruption of the Email Service, which may include suppression and/or deletion of inbound and outbound emails reasonably considered by BT to be spam.
- 4.16 The Customer must only use Microsoft software or other authorised third party software to sign into and use the Email Service.
- 4.17 The Customer must not create or use an email name that infringes the rights of any person in a corresponding trademark or trade name or that in BT's reasonable opinion is offensive, or detrimental to BT including to BT's reputation.
- 4.18 If BT reasonably believes that any action specified in paragraph 4.17 above has happened, BT may, without notice, suspend access to the email account.
- 4.19 The Customer may only use the email address as part of the Service. The Customer must not sell, or agree to transfer it to anyone else and must not try to do so.
- 4.20 The Customer must obtain a licence for each product and separately licensed functionality used on a device or by a User.
- 4.21 The Customer must not:
- (a) use the Email Service to try to gain unauthorised access to any service, data, account or network by any means;
  - (b) falsify any protocol or email header information;

	(c) use the Service to send spam or otherwise make available any offering designed to violate these terms (e.g. denial of service attacks); or		may not be available. If the Software is updated but this is not used by the Customer, some features may not be available and use of the Software may be interrupted.
	(d) remove, modify, or tamper with any regulatory or legal notice or link that is incorporated into the Service.	5.4	From time to time, BT and its licensors may check the Customer's version of the Software and recommend or download updates to the Customer's devices. The update may be downloaded without notice.
4.22	The domain will take the format http://home.btconnect.com/username although all sub-domains are subject to availability. BT may auto-generate this address as part of the account set up but the Customer is responsible for the set up of this sub-domain. The sub-domain name cannot be changed once set up. No private Domain Name, including any domain name purchased directly through BT, can be directly applied to and managed through this Service.	5.5	The Customer may install and use the Software on the Customer's devices only for use with the Service. The Customer's right to use the Software ends when the Customer's right to use the Software terminates or expires, or when the Software is updated and it no longer supports the Software, whichever comes first. The Customer must uninstall the Software when the Customer's right to use it ends. BT or its licensors may also disable it at that time.
4.23	The email addresses will take the format username@btconnect.com although all email addresses are subject to availability. BT may auto-generate the Primary Email address first of these addresses as part of the account set up. The Customer is responsible for setting up all additional email addresses required, up to the maximum number allowed.	5.6	The Customer must not access or use the Service after the Customer's licence terminates or expires.
		5.7	Rights to access the Software on any device do not give the Customer any right to implement Microsoft patents or other Microsoft intellectual property in Software or devices that access that device.
5. ADDITIONAL CONDITIONS			Use of Other Web Sites and Services
	Software	5.8	The Customer may need to use certain Microsoft or authorised third party web sites and services to access and use the Service. The terms of use that come with those sites and services apply to the Customer's use of them.
5.1	The Customer will sign any agreement reasonably required by the owner of the copyright in the Software to protect the owner's interest in that Software. BT and its licensors may update the licence terms from time to time. Changes introduced with updates or supplements or that do not materially affect the Customer's use of the Service will apply immediately.		Additional Functionality
5.2	BT and its licensors may update or supplement the Software. If so, the Customer may use that update or supplement with the Software. If other terms come with an update or supplement, those terms apply to the Customer's use of it.	5.9	BT and its licensors may provide additional functionality for the products. Other license terms and fees may apply.
5.3	BT and its licensors may modify the functionality or features or release a new version of the Software from time to time. After an update, some functionality or features		Data
		5.10	The Customer may be able to submit Customer Information for use in connection with the Service. Except for materials BT and its licensors licence to the Customer, neither BT nor its licensors claim ownership of Customer Information submitted for use with the Service. By submitting Customer Information for use with a Service that enables communication or collaboration with third parties, the Customer acknowledges that those third parties may then be able to:

- (a) use, copy, distribute, display, publish, and modify the Customer Information;
- (b) publish the Customer's name in connection with the Customer Information; and
- (c) grant these permissions to other persons.

5.11 Neither BT nor its licensors will monitor the Customer's use of the Service or track, view, censor, edit, remove or disclose Customer Information that is processed or accessed by the Service except to:

- (a) provide, operate, and improve the Service and other products and services including Microsoft products and services;
- (b) satisfy legal requirements, comply with law or respond to lawful requests or legal process;
- (c) protect the rights or property of BT, Microsoft or others, including the enforcement of agreements or policies governing use of the Service; or
- (d) act on a good faith belief that such access or disclosure is necessary to protect the personal safety of employees of BT, Microsoft, customers or the public.

The Microsoft privacy statement relating to the collection and use of Customer data is available here:

<http://go.microsoft.com/fwlink/?LinkId=104970>

The BT Privacy Policy is available here: <http://www.bt.com/>

Processing of Data

5.12 The Customer consents to the processing of Customer data outside the UK including but not limited to processing in the United States.

Security of Data

5.13 BT and its licensors will implement reasonable and appropriate technical and organisational measures, as described in the security overview applicable to the Service, to help secure Customer data processed or accessed by the Service against accidental or unlawful loss, access, or disclosure. The Customer agrees that these measures are BT and its licensors only responsibility with respect to the security and handling of Customer data.

Further information is available at: <http://go.microsoft.com/fwlink/?LinkId=149494>.

Deletion of Customer Data

5.14 The Customer agrees that, other than as described in these terms, BT and its licensor have no obligation to continue to hold, export or return the Customer's data. The Customer agrees that neither BT nor its licensors have any liability whatsoever for deletion of Customer data pursuant to these terms.

Indemnity

5.15 Except as may be otherwise specifically provided in the Contract, the obligations and responsibilities of BT and its licensor are solely to the Customer and not to any third party, including Users. The Customer will keep harmless and will indemnify BT and its licensors, against any liabilities or costs arising from any and all claims by any third party, including Users, in connection with the use and/or misuse of the Service.

Suspension and Termination of Service

5.16 BT and its licensors may suspend the Service without notice:

- (a) if BT and/or its licensors believes that the Customer's use of the Service represents a direct or indirect threat to BT or its licensor's network function or integrity or anyone else's use of the Service;
- (b) if reasonably necessary to prevent unauthorised access to Customer data;
- (c) to the extent necessary to comply with legal requirements;
- (d) if BT and /or its licensors believes the Customer has breached the Customer's licence or the Contract; or

(e) if the Customer's use exceeds any quotas specified for that Service.

5.17 If the Customer does not use the web space provided, by uploading or modifying any pre-installed content, within ninety days of the commencement of the Service, BT may, without notice, suspend access to the web space, including access to the Customer's sub-domain name. The Customer's sub-domain will be stored on BT systems and must be re-activated by the Customer using the web space tools provided.

5.18 The Customer acknowledges that BT may, without notice delete any email account (including a sub-account), Mailbox and associated content and terminate the Service if the account has not been accessed for any continuous period of 90 days. BT will not be liable to the Customer where such deletion or termination results in the Customer failing to perform any of its obligations under the Contract.

5.19 When this Contract ends, the Customer must stop using and/or accessing the Software.

5.20 On termination of this Contract, for whatever reason, the Customer must cease to use the BT connect email address.

5.21 On termination of the Contract, BT will delete the email account and any data in the account.

Service Reviews

5.22 The Customer agrees to be contacted by BT and / or Microsoft and to participate in telephone interviews and complete any questionnaires or other documents in connection with provision of the Service.

GENERAL

Limitation of Liability

5.23 BT excludes all liability of any kind in respect of Customer Information or any other material which can be accessed or acquired using the Service.

5.24 BT is not liable to the Customer either in contract, tort (including negligence) or otherwise for the acts or omissions of other providers of telecommunications or Internet services (including Domain Name registration authorities) or for faults in or failures of their equipment.

5.25 Microsoft, its Affiliates and suppliers will not be liable under this Contract for any damages, whether direct, indirect, or consequential, arising from the sale or use of the Service.

Limits of Liability

5.26 The limit of liability under clause 7.2 of the Conditions is £5,000 for all and any direct loss or damage arising from any one incident or series of connected incidents and £10,000 for all incidents in any period of 12 months.

Liability for Breach

5.27 The Customer agrees that in addition to any liability to BT, the Customer will be legally responsible to Microsoft for any breach by the Customer of this Contract.

Resale

5.28 The Service and any Software is provided solely for the Customer's own use and the Customer will not resell or attempt to resell the Service (or any part or facility of it) to anyone else.

Electronic Notices

5.29 BT may provide information about the Service in electronic form. It may be via email to the Primary Email address or through a web site that BT advises to the Customer.
